PRICE FIVE CENTS

WILL USE LOCAL POLIO FUNDS FOR VACCINE

One-third of all the 1957 March of Dimes funds retained by the Adams County unit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will go toward continuing the giving of free Salk vaccine after the federal program expires in June, Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman of the current Polio fund campaign, announced today.

In taking the action to help carry on the program of providing polio vaccine to the persons from infancy to age 40 who should receive the inoculations, the local chapter is joining 3,100 units of the National Foundation throughout the nation, Mrs. Codori said.

Acting on a suggestion by Basil O'Connor, national president of the polio foundation, the Adams County chapter will seek in the near future to aid in setting up a county committee to carry on the polio vaccine inoculation program. One-third of the amount kept by the local unit from its annual drive will go immediately to that county committee.

Present Program To End

Mrs. Codori said she had been notified by O'Connor that the federal funds project, which has paid the major cost of the Warner Hospital clinics and school program which have provided more than 13,000 inoculations in the county during the last year, will come to an end in June.

After that the program will be up to local effort. She said O'Connor reported 63,000,000 people under 40 years of age still have not received the vaccine.

FEBRUARY TOLL ON HIGHWAYS TOPS '56 RATE

Eight persons were fatally injured in 54 automobile accidents on Adams County highways during the first two months of this year, according to the monthly recapitulation of the activities of the local substation of the Pennsylvania State Police.

February's report shows two persons were fatally injured and 13 less seriously hurt in 21 auto accidents to which the state policemen were called. Damage totaled $19,165.

During January, the officers investigated 33 accidents in which six persons were killed, 24 less seriously injured and damage totaled $41,560.

Heavier Toll Than '56

During the first two months of 1956, there were 54 auto accidents investigated by the officers — the same number as during the first two months of this year. Damage totaled $34,136. A total of 42 persons were hurt but none was killed during those two months.

So far this year, the local state police have made 201 arrests for traffic violations on the county's highways, 110 during January and 91 during February.

The accidents investigated by state police probably represent about one-half of the total crashes in the county. In addition to the ones investigated by state police, borough police in a number of communities investigate accidents occurring within the boundaries of their boroughs, and in addition there are many one-car accidents which are unreported to any police for various reasons.

Dangerous Hours

The recapitulation of the February accidents shows most occurred on Fridays between 4 and 5 o'clock. There were five of the 21 accidents on Fridays and five occurred between 4 and 5 p.m. Police explained that those hours generally were the most dangerous because traffic was generally heavier with persons going home from work and Death, as it does to all men, came to two respected employees of The Gettysburg Times this week . . . Walter A. Small, 69-year-old pressman who retired a few months ago after forty years of faithful service . . . and Miss Mary Louise Callahan, 40-year-old editor whose affiliation dates back to 1952.

Mr. Small was a pressman of the old school who was steadfast in his application to his responsibilities. He was faithful unto the end. He was proud of the printed newspaper he produced each day and he was loyal to his employers and to his fellow associates.

Walt was born in the old printing days when equipment was not what it is today. Materials were not too plentiful and a pressman was a one-man department. However, he grew with the trade and became a top-flight operator of the old flat-bed press. He made it hum when experts failed and through his tender care drew a few extra years of service from the old machine . . . it always seemed to respond to his touch. His accomplishments with the old press will always be a tradition among those who dabble in printer's ink.

With Miss Callahan's death a void is created in the news room that can never be entirely filled. The same can be said of the community in which she was always eager to serve. Her Christian qualities were patterns of near perfection. She was most cheerful and pleasant at all times . . . uncomplaining . . . ready and willing to assist anyone in any effort. She was well grounded in her faith and lived an exemplary life, at home, in her office, at play or wherever her presence took her. She has never been heard to utter an unkind or unclean word. She frowned on everything that was not wholly and completely decent.

She loved her church, her family, her work, her associates and she loved life and laughter and perhaps most of all she loved to do little and big things for almost everybody.

We dubbed her "Irish" and she loved that. She was proud of her heritage and she never hesitated to exemplify it. There were few who were ill whom she failed to remember with a cheerful card, or a call, or flowers. Children were dearly loved by this bright eyed, pleasant young lady, and they recognized her love and affection at once . . . and responded in kind.

Her pastor said she had earned the blessings of her church and faith . . . that's all she cared about. Worldly blessings mattered not to her. She seemed to be happiest when she could make others happy.

She had a natural flare for writing, her words being almost patterns of poems, pretty things, cheerful, airy and bright.

Her life of two score years is over. The goal, for which she strived through her faith, we feel has been safely reached. Those of us who knew her well and intimately loved her and will miss her for a long, long time.

Lost Boy, Parents Reunited Quickly

Borough police Friday afternoon solved a small mystery quickly. The police officers were patrolling the 400 block of Steinwehr Ave. and noticed a small boy weeping. They interrogated the child and found he was lost.

Putting him in the police car, they started back toward the center of town and, observing a man walking and apparently looking for something, they halted. The man was the small boy's father. The family had been enroute home from South Carolina, stopped at the Battlefield Service Station and the boy had wandered away and became lost.

Philip Tyson's photographs of "Stone Texture" and "Stumps" were second and third selections by Bodine.

Honorable Mention Dr. C. A. Sloat is believed to have set a new mark when four of his prints were given honorable mention. Dave Garfinkle had two placed in the honorable mention class and Dr. Francis Mason and Maurice Swoops each placed one in that class.

Bodine, credited with displaying photographs in salon exhibitions longer than any other photographer, 30 years, criticized the method of judging and criticizing prints by many judges and showed photographs he had made over a period of years which were taken in direct opposition to the method prescribed by some judges. One of his landscapes recently won a gold medal in a Pittsburgh show.

Arab Leaders Takes Wary View Of Israel Plan To Move Troops

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Arab delegates to the U.N. took a wary view today of Israel's announcement of its plans for the full and prompt withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and Aqaba coast areas.

"We will see," Abdul Monem Rifa'i of Jordan, chairman of the U.N. told newsmen. "First let us find out what happens over the weekend. On Monday our group will have its say."

In Washington, where Secretary of State Dulles sought to convince Arab diplomats that no deal was involved in winning Israel's agreement to pull out of the two areas, nine Arab envoys took a similar view. They told reporters they would "wait and see."

Resolution Is Alive

Rifa'i said his group considered the Asian-Arab resolution in the General Assembly demanding sanctions against Israel for not withdrawing still very much alive. Arab diplomats indicted they would press for adoption of the resolution when the Assembly reconvenes Monday if Israel has not Four framed certificates for outstanding services to the community and cooperation with the Junior Chamber of Commerce were presented Friday evening at the annual Bosses' Night dinner of the Jaycee held at the VFW home on E. Middle St.

The presentations were made to Burgess William G. Weaver, WGET Manager Parker H. Cunningham, Chief of Police Jack Bartlett and Paul L. Roy, editor of The Gettysburg Times. In the absence of Mr. Roy, his certificate was accepted on his behalf by G. Henry Roth of The Times staff.

Harold Ecker, president of the Jaycees, made the presentations.

National V.P. Speaks

Ralph E. Peters, Camp Hill, a national vice president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and past Pennsylvania Jaycee president, told the group:

"In Tulsa, Okla., the Junior Chamber of Commerce has a $500,000 building and staff of 52 whose guide is service to the local units so they can provide service to their communities."

"From the national president down to the newest member in the Junior Chamber the keyword is service. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is not only an organization devoted to service, it is also the greatest training course for junior leaders in the world today."

Cites Service Record

"In the Jaycees young men learn that the greatest happiness one can have is to lose oneself in a program of service in which one believes. And in doing it, in serving on committees, in the give and take required to plan a program, set that program to the entire organization and in carrying out that program, the members learn leadership."

NONE HURT WHEN 2 CARS COLLIDE

No one was injured, and damage totaled $440 when two cars collided and one turned on its top two miles south of York Springs on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd. at 6 o'clock Friday evening.

State police said Charles J. Shaw, 23, Plymouth, Pa., was driving north when he sought to pass another car. Discovering that Earl Hansen, 72, Syracuse, N. Y., was southbound on his way to Florida, Shaw braked his car and sought to get back into his own lane.

According to police the left rear of the Shaw car collided with the left rear of the Hansen sedan, and Shaw's car flipped over on its top.

Despite $400 damage to the Plymouth man's vehicle, he was able to crawl out of the upset auto uninjured. Paul Wolff's tow truck was called from York Springs to right Shaw's car and Shaw was taken before Justice of the Peace Elmer Coulson to face a charge of making a pass in the face of oncoming traffic.

Shaw paid the fine of $10 and the costs and then found his car was still in operable condition, now that it was back on its wheels. Henson, whose car had only $40 damage, was able to leave directly from the scene of the accident.

$7,000 BLAZE AT BRAGTOWN

Damage was estimated at $7,000 when a barn burned this morning at 4 o'clock at the farm of Harry Hockenberry, Bragtown.

A son of the owner, Marlow Hockenberry, 38, was burned about the arms and face in attempting to remove articles from the blazing barn. He was treated by an East Berlin physician.

Dillsburg, York Springs and Franklinton fire companies were called after a passerby saw the blaze and notified the family.

Members of the family were able to remove a car, tractor and a two-wheel tractor from the blazing 20 by 25 foot structure before the fire reached the point where they could no longer enter the building.

Firemen played water on the house and a nearby shed to prevent their catching fire from the blazing barn.

Court Hands Down Equity Action Opinion

The Adams County court this morning handed down an opinion in the equity action brought by Hugh K. Hamm, Hanover R. 5, against his nephew, Walter J. Hamm Jr.

The opinion concerns the preliminary objections brought by Hugh Hamm against a counter claim of Walter Hamm. The six-page opinion lists the claims and counterclaims almost paragraph by paragraph and states in which matters the court sustains the objections and in which matters it dismisses the objections and gives Walter Hamm 20 days to file an amended counterclaim.

PROPERTY SOLD

Cassius and Irene Brent, Gettysburg R. 3, have sold their house and plot of ground in Franklin Twp. to Michael and Anna Zagurski, Philadelphia. Early possession will be given. The sale was made through C. A. Heiges and Son, Buford Ave.

A New Oxford R. 1 couple and their 19-month-old daughter were fatally hurt and their two other children were orphaned when a 1954 auto left the road between Irishtown and Edge Grove Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock and struck two trees.

Curtis A. Neiderer, 41, New Oxford R. 1, a World War II veteran, died at 5:45 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Hanover Hospital of a fractured skull, punctured lung and other internal injuries.

His wife, Marguerite Neiderer, 33, a native of Austria and a "war bride," died at the scene of the accident of a fractured skull and fractured left leg.

Child Dies At Scene

Their daughter, Deborah, 19 months, also died at the scene of the accident of a compound fracture of the skull.

The two other children were in school at the time of the crash.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, and State Policeman Robert P. Brady, who investigated, said the Neiderer car was demolished, and all three of the occupants of the car were thrown from the vehicle when it collided with a tree, spun around and finally came to rest on the highway again.

Husband Driving

The deaths brought to 11 the number of persons fatally injured on Adams County highways so far this year.

The car was traveling from Edge Grove to Irishtown, and was close to Irishtown, west of Conewago Chapel, when the accident occurred.

Dr. Crist said the husband apparently was driving when the auto skidded off the left side of the road into a ditch and the right front of the car hit a tree. The car then apparently spun around, according to Dr. Crist, and the left rear of the car also collided with another tree, about five feet up on the trunk. The three occupants of the auto were spilled out into the ditch and the car came back on the highway before it stopped.

Were Enroute Home

The Neiderer car was discovered following the accident

HEARS NIXON; GIVES IKE OK

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—Sultan Mohammed V has termed President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine a wise plan after hearing Vice President Nixon explain its terms.

Nixon received an enthusiastic welcome in this newly independent country, his first stop on an eight-country flying tour of Africa. The vice president was to leave today for the Gold Coast to attend ceremonies converting that British colony into the independent nation of Ghana.

Morocco's ruling sultan has indicated previously he was receptive to the Eisenhower plan seeking to guard the Middle East from communism, but had not taken a public stand. Morocco is not considered part of the Middle East, but the Sultan has influence in that area as a Moslem leader.

A palace spokesman said Nixon explained the Eisenhower policy after his arrival here yesterday as one designed to maintain the independence of the Middle East countries and to provide economic aid.

The Sultan then informed Nixon that the U.S. policy is a wise one, the spokesman said. He also praised both Eisenhower and Nixon as friends of Morocco.

ceived the polio shots. She said it is estimated that only approximately one-third of those who should have the inoculations in Adams County have received polio vaccine so far.

So far this year the county polio unit has paid $298.89 to aid the federal program by providing needles, sponges, alcohol and syringes to the clinic and for use in the school program. After June the cost of the actual shots themselves will have to be paid by local effort.

May Have $4,500

So far in the current March of Dimes campaign approximately $7,500 has been donated by countyans. Mrs. Codori said she hopes that by the time the drive is completed it will reach or exceed the $9,000 raised by last year's fund drive.

If $9,000 is raised, $4,500 will be retained here and $4,500 advanced to the national Foundation. One-third of the amount retained locally will be paid to the special county committee to be set up to carry on the program of giving the shots.

with 10,000 members.

"That those Jaycees can give devoted service was proven during the floods in the Poconos after hurricane Diane. Young men came from chapters throughout much of the state and devoted themselves to helping clean the mud and muck out of homes that had been in the flood. It was dirty work, it was hard work and it meant giving up an entire weekend. But these young men did it willingly and with joy. They were helping their state, helping humanity."

"It was an example of young men fulfilling their civic obligation. And if we as free people do not fulfill our civic obligations we will lose the freedom for which our forefathers fought. If we do not assume our own obligations as citizens we will go down the road to socialism."

Praised By Burgess

"You bosses may wonder sometimes at how much of their time your employees are giving to Junior Chamber of Commerce work. But in taking up those activities they are learning leadership, they are coming back to you better employees, enriched by what they have learned in the Jaycees. And they are better citizens, capable and willing to pay the civic rent we all owe, to fulfill our community responsibilities so that we can keep the freedom that is ours."

John Y. Crow, regional Jaycee vice president, was toastmaster. National Director Donald Becker told the group there are now 350,000 members in the Jaycee organization which was founded in 1915. Membership extends into 80 counties of the free world he added.

Burgess Weaver praised the Jaycees for their contributions to the community.

U. S. HOPES FOR QUICK ACTION IN MIDDLE EAST

By JOHN HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials expressed hope today for speedy removal of Israeli forces from Egypt, and then for quick resumption of negotiations on operation of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli troop issue has been regarded here as the key to breaking the log jam on a number of Middle East problems, foremost among them the future of the canal which Egypt seized last summer.

Also awaiting solution is the major problem of achieving a stable settlement between Israel and the Arab states and the question of starting repairs on one of the major oil pipelines which runs through Syria. The pipeline was damaged, and the Suez Canal blocked, after the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt last fall.

Greatly Pleased

Secretary of State Dulles and other top officials were described as greatly pleased with Israel's announcement to the United Nations yesterday that it had decided to remove its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba area. U. S. officials were hopeful no hitch would develop.

Some estimates here were that if arrangements could be made quickly for U. N. emergency forces to take over in the two areas, Israeli forces could be back behind their own borders in two or three days.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld issued orders for Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the U. N. force in Egypt, to meet with Israeli army leaders today to arrange for taking over the disputed areas. In Cairo, Burns said last night his force is ready to move in quickly behind the withdrawing Israelis.

Resistance In Israel

However, the Israeli government was meeting some internal resistance to its withdrawal decision. The right wing Herut (Freedom) party last night called in Tel Aviv for nationwide demonstrations today against the decision. The Herut party is the second largest in Israel.

Arab envoys who conferred with Dulles yesterday came away telling newsmen they would "wait and see" how the Israeli withdrawal develops.

The United States was anxious to convince the Arabs it had made no secret promises or concessions to win Israeli agreement to leave the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

This country has taken the position that Israel should make an unconditional withdrawal from the disputed areas. But it has offered assurances of support for moves to prevent any more Egyptian commando attacks on Israel from Gaza and to back efforts to get free navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba, blockaded by the Egyptians for six years before the Israelis moved in.

They're not just a-whistlin' Dixie down in North Carolina today. They're shouting it from the rooftops, loud and clear.

The reason for the waving of the Stars and Bars? The University of North Carolina's basketball team, naturally. The Tar Heels, ranked first in the nation, swept through their regularly scheduled 24-game season undefeated.

Today's Talk

GOOD WILL

What is your Good Will worth? A business is often gauged by its Good Will. Why then can't it be applied to each one of us as human beings? Good Will is an intangible thing, like the soul it cannot be seen but it has a purpose. Our Good Will can be so pronounced that it can be felt by all with whom we have contact.

The Good Will of a person may be so evident that it becomes an asset in friendship and in business, and in all that we do. It's in our face, our talk, and our attitude toward life and all its problems. It's an accumulative thing that may keep growing with the years. It marks the man or woman.

Many businesses carry an item on their books which they term as Good Will. We can do the same, but carry it in our character and instead of having it reduced from time to time, like a business, it can grow more and more valuable as we develop in mind and heart.

There is another kind of Good Will that is not associated with the commercial one, and that is the one that is a silent messenger that we introduce as we go from place to place carrying hope and cheer and making ourselves welcomed everywhere to all who may meet us.

"Peace and Good Will toward all men" was the message sent out from that birthplace at Bethlehem, and it was given light and hope to all the world since that holy event. Influence is Good Will that has brought happiness to millions. We can be agents of Good Will and be the means of scattering it far and wide. We can share our blessings making our own enriched. We can be a lamp lighter in an often darkened world.

DECISION

The umpire called the runner out and out he stayed.
The records show beyond a doubt the verdict made.
The manager came out in rage and all complained.
But next day on the printed page the "out" remained.

Well, life's an umpire. Now and then it calls us out.
Though many, time and time again the judgment doubt.
Wise is the youth who bravely hides his failure's pain.
Accepts the verdict and decides to try again.

Warriors Falter In Last Six Minutes To Lose To Hanover 76-61 After Setting Hot Pace

Collapsing in the final six minutes of play after leading from the start by as much as 15 points early in the second quarter, the Gettysburg High Warriors bowed to Hanover, first half South Penn champs, here Friday evening 76-61.

Coach George Forney's outfit appeared headed for another surprise victory over a top contender but could not maintain their pace in the waning moments.

Carl Klinedinst flipped in a short shot to give the Hawks their first lead at 56-35 after 1:55 minutes of the last quarter. Four straight fouls by Larry, Little and another goal by Klinedinst followed and the hand writing was on the wall as Gettysburg's ball handling became sloppy which resulted in easy interceptions for the visitors who roared on to outscore the Warriors 27-9 in the last frame.

Hanover's superb foul shooting, 28 for 34, as compared to the Warriors' 17 for 29, was a big factor in the outcome.

Steinour Leads Attack
Sidney Steinour, who put up his best game of the season and wound up with 20 points, rammed through three goals and four free tosses as Gettysburg roared off to a 21-15 lead in the first period. The Forneys were on top 17-7 after 5:24 minutes but Hanover spurred at the end to close the gap. Bob Hess landed seven points and Earl Little two to complete the Gettysburg scoring in the first frame.

A pair of goals by Steinour and one by Hess opened the second period before Bob Forney landed two fouls for Hanover. Hess came through with a three-pointer to make it 30-17 before Klinedinst and Bill Poist each sank a pair of fouls for the Hawks. Goals by Little and Steinour and a pair of free tosses by Tom Kitzmiller gave the Warriors their biggest lead at 36-21 after 5:20 of the stanza. Larry Little and Klinedinst led a Hawk rally which was good for nine straight points. Hess' goal at the buzzer enabled Gettysburg to hold a 37-30 lead at the half.

A pair of goals by Poist and L. Little opened the third period which was nip and tuck throughout as the Warriors gamely held on to a lead of from three to six points. Earl Little came through with a trio of goals and Hess two during the round which ended with the locals still on top 52-49. Hanover's scoring was evenly distributed between Klinedinst, Poist, Irons and L. Little.

Hawks Soar Ahead
Little opened the last period with a goal for Hanover which Earl Little quickly matched. A foul by L. Little and two by Klinedinst knotted the score at 54-54 after 50 seconds. Kitzmiller made one of three free tosses to give Gettysburg its final lead at 55-54. Klinedinst's goal and Little's four fouls swept the Hawks into the front and from then on it was all Hanover as Forney dropped through five goals during the remainder of the period.

Hess trailed Steinour in scoring.

County's 5254-H Club Members Begin Observance Of National 4-H Club Week; Plan Meetings

Adams County's 5254-H club members today started observance of National 4-H Club Week, a period devoted to extending knowledge of the 4-H movement to more boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20. The observance ends next Saturday.

During the week, the county 4-H club members and their leaders will be engaged in setting up their program for the year through a representative method of reaching decisions.

Monday the 33 local leaders of the clubs, the adults who serve as advisors for the organizations, will meet at 7:30 o'clock at the Agricultural Extension Office in the courthouse to discuss the budget for 4-H activities and outline the year's program.

Council To Meet
Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock the recommendations of the leaders will go before the 4-H County Council, made up of officers of the clubs and older members, at a meeting in the old gymnasium at Gettysburg High School where the young representatives of the clubs themselves will make the final decisions on the general county program for the year. The work of the 4-H clubs in the county was outlined today by Henry T. Moon, assistant state 4-H Club leader from Pennsylvania State University, in a 4-H Week feature.

Moon's statement follows:
Helping Each Other
"Newspapers and agricultural publications keep the readers well informed about the never-ending activities of more than 2,000,000 4-H Club members spread across the nation. These boys and girls are with us today, tomorrow and always, for new recruits join the 4-H ranks at the age of ten and continue with 4-H Club membership, in many cases, until they pass their 20th birthday. The 4-H Club program is not only an educational program with the teaching of many skills and techniques, but it is first and foremost a character building program that is in constant motion.

"As the Adams County 4-H youth join together in their many community clubs, they are helping each other to build strong minds and bodies and to learn to work together in community organizations. From within this group of rural and suburban youth come many of the community leaders and county leaders of tomorrow.

Building And Farm News

These 4-H'ers of today will reflect the surroundings in which we adults have a part in raising them. As the boys and girls exhibit their 4-H projects of clothing, food, or dairy calf, or a garden project or baby beef, they learn the acceptable standards as presented to them by the judges, they learn good sportsmanship, and they learn to comply with the wishes and the desires of the group.

"This issue of the newspaper opens the new 4-H season in Adams County. I am sure that the many hundreds of 4-H Club members here will continue to learn by doing, to learn to know people, to meet people, and to recognize them, and to know about the various business meetings in their community. The 4-H Club members learn democracy in action, for many members report on their projects at community meetings. They learn to hear their voices for the first time while standing before an audience. They develop self-confidence while sharing their feelings with other members of the group. The 4-H Club members of each community practice worthwhile projects which will be beneficial to them in later life. Thus they develop self-confidence, self-reliance, respect for fellow men and respect for the feelings and rights of others.

New Crop Ahead
"Within the next year a whole new crop of 4-H junior leaders in Adams County will come to the foreground to take their places on the county council, to take some of the committee responsibilities in planning for county-wide events, to help their adult leaders and to be delegates to many district and state events. Adams County will produce some club members who will earn the right to represent their county at the state 4-H Leadership School held at the Pennsylvania State University. Other members will have the opportunity to attend the 4-H leaders' training camp at Camp Kanawake in June, to learn new skills in recreation and camping, and to come back and help other 4-H members in Adams County.

"In August a dozen 4-H Club boys and girls — the cream of the crop — will represent Adams County at 4-H Club Week at Penn State, while they take part in demonstrations and judging contests. Another highlight of the Adams County 4-H Club program will be the 4-H camping period shared with leaders and 4-H'ers from York County.

"It is my sincere hope that during the next two or three years, many more of the 4-H Club members will follow the example of some of the fine alumni of this group who are now enrolled as students at Penn State.

Ten Guideposts
"Ten guideposts are used by the Cooperative Extension Service and the volunteer leaders to aid 4-H Club members to analyze their situations, needs, and interests. These point the way to building programs that will prepare young people for better living — physically, mentally and spiritually:

1. Develop talents for greater usefulness.
2. Join with friends for work, fun, and fellowship.
3. Learn to live in a changing world.
4. Choose a way to earn a living.
5. Produce food and fibre for home and market.
6. Create better homes for better living.
7. Conserve nature's resources for security and happiness.

Bee Colonies, Old Meadows Both Need More Food If They Are To Do Well, Zettle Says

By FRANK ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

Bees have wintered well up to the present time, but now many colonies are running short of food. With the generally light honeyflow last fall and the open winter, which usually results in heavy food consumption, it is likely that many colonies will be lost due to starvation.

In most colonies the bees will be found in the upper hive body or super; the stronger colonies have already consumed a large portion of their winter stores. Since there will be no nectar available until willow and red maple begin to bloom some feeding is necessary. Dry sugar is good food at this time, since the weather is cold. Pour several pounds of sugar onto the inner cover. This will carry the bees through until the weather is warm enough to permit the feeding of sugar syrup. A heavy syrup made of two parts sugar to one part hot water by volume makes the best feed. Feeding syrup has a tendency to stimulate brood rearing early. Better colonies and larger crops are usually the result of early feeding.

Feed Old Meadows

Late winter is the time to consider boosting production of old grass meadows this spring and summer. There is a wealth of forage, and eventual milk production, to be obtained from such neglected fields. There are thousands of acres which have not been seeded for many years, but this does not mean that they must be reseeded to obtain good milk and beef production.

These old meadows produce about one to one and a half tons of dry forage each year of rather poor quality. However, if 400 lbs. of 10-10-10 or 500 lbs. of 8-16-16 fertilizer is applied in March, grass production can easily be doubled, and the quality of the forage greatly improved.

Don't forget to leave a strip through the field that did not receive any fertilizer and don't forget to lime first if the soil is acid.

It Pays To Test

Since October 1, 1951, the Soil Testing Laboratory at the Pennsylvania State University tested 2,508 soil samples from fields intended for potato production. These tests reveal a big difference in soil fertility among various potato growing counties, among potato farms within a county and even among fields on individual potato farms.

Soil test results in southeastern counties show an average fertilizer requirement of 1,200 lbs. of 5-10-10 or equivalent per acre. Tests in northwestern counties indicate an average fertilizer requirement of 2,000 lbs. of 5-10-10 per acre.

Potato fields on five farms in a western Pennsylvania county illustrate the great variation in fertility within counties: Field 1 had a fertilizer requirement of 800 lbs. of 5-10-5 or equivalent per acre; Field 2 needed 1,200 lbs. of 5-10-10 per acre; Field 3 required 1,500 lbs. of 5-10-10 per acre; Field 4, 2,000 lbs. of 5-10-10 per acre and Field 5, 800 lbs. of 10-10-10 plus 1,500 lbs. of 5-10-15 per acre or a total of 2,300 pounds per acre.

The class of 1960 at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis will include 273 enlisted men from Navy and Marine Corps.
